

Sam Allison, born in Scotland and a graduate of the London School of Economics, immigrated to Canada in 1968. After teaching high school history, he taught in McGill University's Faculty of Education. He has served on committees for Quebec's Education Ministry, and has written educational books, articles and websites. Sam's latest book is Drv'n by Fortune: The Scots' March to Modernity in America, 1745–1812. He has given talks on this book in many parts of Canada.